EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITY

Research day

"During the Research Day at my university, I had the opportunity to volunteer and contribute to the Computer Science department's showcase. My role involved assisting with the setup of presentations, coordinating with participants, and ensuring that the technical equipment ran smoothly. I also helped guide attendees through the various research projects, explaining complex concepts in an accessible way. This experience allowed me to engage deeply with ongoing research in areas like AI, data science, and cybersecurity, while honing my organizational and communication skills. It was a rewarding experience that fueled my passion for research and collaboration in the field of computer science."

Infinitus

"Volunteering at Infinitus, our university's largest college festival, was an exhilarating experience. As part of the organizing team, I was involved in event planning, logistics, and coordination across various activities. My responsibilities included managing schedules, assisting with the setup of venues, and ensuring smooth communication between different teams. I also worked closely with participants and performers, helping to create an energetic and engaging atmosphere. This experience taught me valuable skills in teamwork, problem-solving, and event management, all while contributing to the vibrant campus culture. It was a memorable opportunity to be part of something impactful and grand."
